River Dynamited in Effort to Find Broker's Missing Wife.

NEW YORK, November 9.—A woman's disappearance, a mystery as black as impenetrable darkness, as her family describe it, has caused the explosion of a ton of dynamite, in an effort to find her body if she has committed suicide by drowning. That effort is only one of many made since last Thursday night to discover some trace of Mrs. Julius Fleischmann, dead or alive. The dynamite was exploded in the North River.

No one saw Mrs. Fleischmann leave her home, so far as can be learned. No one so Mrs. Sieischmann leave her home, so far as can be learned, has seen her since she left it. No one knows exactly when she left.

Mrs. Fleischmann lived with her hus-

Mrs. Fielschmann is about sixty years old. She had been a partial invalid of late years, and was obliged to undergo an operation three years ago, which left her somewhat nervously unstrung.

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Fielschmann had tea about 4 o'clock at home with her daughter-in-law. At 5 o'clock she told her daughter-in-law that she felt a little tired and was going to her room to lie down for a time.

Shortly before 5:30 o'clock her husband came home and sought her. He was told that she was in her room lying down. He went there and she was not was told that she was in her room lying down. He went there and she was not there. The house was ill rched, but she was nowhere to be found.

None of the servants had seen her go out, and no one had seen her since. All the hospitals and the morgue have been visited, but not a trace of the woman has been found.

Negro Is Lynched.

MOBILE, ALA., November 10.--A MOBILE, ALA., November 19.—A long distance telephone message from Biloxi, Miss., says that Henry Leidy, a negro, charged with assault upon .lizabeth Hauser, a white girl seventeen years of age, at West End, near Biloxi, today was taken three-quarters of a mile from the pail and lynched at 1:30 o'clock. No shots were fired: the mobwas orderly and marched back to the city and dispersed. The body of the negro remained hanging to the tree for half an hour and was vewed by hundreds of citizens.
